Andrew: That must make yer dad a texas rabbi me: yep
me: ironically enough Andrew: There's that word again Andrew: why is iron so important to you earth people? Do you use it for fuel?
me: Heavy? Has gravity increased in the future?
me: I used the term "fucking magnet" in an article yesterday
Andrew: OH MY GOD A MEME HAS EXCAPED

Andrew: why wait?
me: for some gay reason me: saving monies
Andrew: ah, good gay reason me: gonna do it a little better than I did last time Andrew: you can crash at my place me: you remember last time Andrew: I do!
me: when I had no money and got on heroin and lived like a criminal Andrew: I was a little discouraged when you decided oyu could run your own bushwick empire like some sort of african despot
Andrew: but the rest was fairly entertaining Andrew: is yer gf rich?
me: well, I've got another empire Andrew: if so, live in williamsburg Andrew: media empires dont count me: and insomuch as that I have a movie deal me: and have informed the Puerto Ricans me: that they'll be in it me: now El calls me to report on their little video projects me: so I will finally control those Puerto Ricans me: so fuck you!
me: jajajajajajajaaja
Andrew: oh lord - here we go again!

Andrew: id like to see them in a movie Andrew: or any movie involving your creative input me: yes
me: it has to be done
Andrew: how much money do you have for this movie?

Andrew: can you bring that one back?
me: oh, also me: my gf's roommate
me: who's a knowitall coder me: says MIT can crack any code in an hour me: and that there is no such thing as encryption that can't be cracked right now me: is that BS?

me: because the guy also thought Minecraft was an FPS when I tried to show it to him
Andrew: yes
me: that's what I thought Andrew: that is bullshit Andrew: but more to the point me: that guy talks lots of noise Andrew: its far too general
Andrew: MD5 can be cracked with a good cluster in under an hour
Andrew: but has been known to be deficient for years Andrew: SHA-2, blowfish et all are all still theoretically open form problems with sufficiently complex passwords me: the one on your arm me: for instance
me: what's the deal?
Andrew: there is the possibility the NSA knows shortcuts for some algos, but i would be surprised if they knew somethign drastically faster than current impls
Andrew: the tattoo is the basic mathematical description of a semi-prime factoring key gen, which is the basis for RSA
Andrew: itself susceptible to breakage, but is the groundwork for all public key crypto me: okay, that's kind of what I figured, that the guy was being really general and not defining his terms, etc
Andrew: yes
Andrew: we can ask the NSA right now Andrew: HEY NSA, CAN YOU READ THIS LH$K!NRLK!NUOICRNU#)(RU)#@RU)!#(UR)_UM Andrew: we'll find out at your deposition I guess me: k
me: don't forget about our plan to cross state lines and buy fireworks off-season
